

Debit Solution

Take debit beyond the ordinary.

Take your debit program beyond the ordinary for differentiation in today's competitive financial services marketplace.

Differentiation is important, because for many customers the debit card is the foundation of their relationship with you. It's the piece of you they carry with them and what they rely on every day to access, spend and manage their money.

With Galileo, your debit programs can be as varied as the markets you serve.

The Galileo Debit Solution enables you to operate multiple, full-function debit programs, with custom features, branding and pricing for each target audience. You can even integrate your own proprietary functionality—or applications developed by third parties—to create debit programs you thought could exist only in your imagination. Our suite of open APIs and unique account structure support ultimate flexibility for whatever debit program you want to deliver.

But, it's not just your customers we're looking out for. It's you, too. That's why we're happy to handle any or all your debit program's back-office requirements—freeing you to focus on your customers and creating outstanding user experiences.

If you're talking debit, we've got you covered.
